

A Level Art & Design

A level art and design provides learners with a natural progression from GCSE, offering a similar course structure and means of assessment. The course allows learners to tailor their experience of the course to suit their needs and potential career path. It is our aim as a department to facilitate creative thinking through a range of engaging and challenging projects.

Pathways

Art is a popular A level that allows students to balance their A levels, while being able to demonstrate creativity in painting, sculpting, drawing and more. The prospects are wide for students going onto further study into professions such as photography, digital illustration, landscape architecture or costume design.

Student Quotes

‘Art is a friendly place to work in, the subject is challenging but the teachers are supportive and we work together to create new ideas’

Katie

‘Art is different to my other subjects because I have the opportunity to work independently and make work which shows my interests and creativity. I work well with the teachers and the calm atmosphere helps me to work.’
